Staking rewards

Proof of stake blockchains like Cardano work differently to proof of work blockchains like Bitcoin. In simple terms, adding new blocks to the blockchain requires existing holders to 'stake' their cryptocurrency. In return for staking, they are rewarded with cryptocurrency from that same blockchain.

CoinShares' Staked ETPs are built to allow the Issuer to share staking rewards with investors in two ways:

The Issuer can reduce the management fee.

The Issuer can also increase the Coin Entitlement of the ETP each day, as staking awards accrue.

For CoinShares Physical Staked Cardano, the Issuer will share staking rewards as follows:

Product	Cardano Staking ETP
Management Fee	Reduced to 0.0% p.a.
Staking Reward	2.0% p.a. ¹ (accrued daily)

Note that staked coins do not move from the secure custodian where they are stored, and the ETP remains 100% physically backed at all times.

The CoinShares Group earns fees for services performed for the Issuer as well as any extra return earned from staking above the Staking Rewards for investors.

Product price performance

*Past performance is not indicative of future performance. The ETP NAV is determined at 4.00 pm CET of each business day, and represents the value of one unit. The benchmark index data is procured from the Compass Crypto Reference Index Cardano. This data is provided 'as is', solely for your informational purposes. The performance of the benchmark index is based on both historical data and backtest data. The returns do not take the impact of the expenses from the brokerage on the secondary market for buying and selling the Securities, nor do they reflect the deduction of the taxes that may be applicable to the investor.
