Fund Characteristics

as-a-Service, Platform-as-a-Service and Software-as-a-Service and which are set out in detail below. All stocks selected are domiciled in the U.S. and traded on the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE), NYSE MKT and NASDAQ meet the following criteria: (i) the company has a minimum market capitalisation of $500 million; (ii) the company must have a minimum free float of 20%; and (iii) the company must have a three-month average daily dollar trading volume (ADDTV) of at least $5 million. Details of the Index and how the Index is calculated are set out below.

The Index is a sub-set of the Parent Index. The composition of the Index is determined by the application of ESG risk scoring and exclusionary screens to the constituents of the Parent Index.

Index Description

The description below is a summary of information provided by the Index Provider on the methodology for the construction of the Parent Index and the Index.

The Parent Index employs a modified equal weighted methodology which weights each company by a “Cloud Score” similar to market cap weighted. The maximum number of securities in the Index is 80. The Parent Index is a comprehensive, rules based index designed to measure the performance of companies engaged in a business activity in the cloud computing industry. The cloud computing industry is a group of companies that offer internet and technology products, services and applications delivered via the internet, as opposed to traditional computing which focuses on computer desktop applications. To be included in the Parent Index, a security must also be classified as a cloud computing company defined below by the Consumer Technology Association (CTA):

1. Infrastructure-as-a-Service (IaaS): Companies that deliver cloud computing infrastructure – servers, storage, and networks – as an on-demand service;
2. Platform-as-a-Service (PaaS): Companies that deliver a platform for the creation of software in the form of virtualization, middleware, and/or operating systems, which is then delivered over the internet; and
3. Software-as-a-Service (SaaS): Companies that deliver software applications over the internet enabling other companies to conduct their operations using the application.

In order to be included in the Parent Index, the issuer of the security must not be identified by the SEC as having used to audit its financial statements an accounting firm that has been identified by the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (PCAOB) under the Holding Foreign Companies Accountable Act (HFCAA).

The Parent Index employs a modified equal weighted methodology which weights each company by a Cloud Score. At every Index evaluation, each security receives a score of 3 if it is classified as IaaS, 2 if it is classified as PaaS and 1 if it is classified as SaaS. Each company's cloud score is then summed up. This sum is divided by the total sum of the scores in the universe to determine the weight of each security. The weight of any individual security is capped at 4.5%. If the total number of securities in the Index exceeds 80, an intensity rating is utilized to eliminate those SaaS companies with the lowest rating until the number of names in the Index reached 80. If there is a tie in the intensity rating, the more liquid security is selected.

The inception date of the Parent Index was 31 December 2007. The Index began on 6 November 2023.

The securities included in the Parent Index are selected in the following manner:

1. companies listed on the Nasdaq Stock Market, New York Stock Exchange, NYSE American or CBOE BZX Exchange;
2. companies that have a minimum market capitalisation of $500 million;
3. companies that have a minimum free float of 20%; and
4. companies that have a three-month ADDTV of $5 million.

The Index is rebalanced and reconstituted quarterly in March, June, September and December of each year. The new methodology implements a weighting cap of 4.5% per issuer at each rebalance.

Application of Exclusionary Screens and ESG Scoring

The composition of the Index is determined by the application of ESG scoring and exclusionary screens to the constituents of the Parent Index. The screening is undertaken by Nasdaq based on data it sources from Sustainalytics.

The following screening categories may be considered when assessing a company's involvement in events or incidents with negative ESG implications: (i) land use and biodiversity; (ii) resource use; (iii) oil sands extraction; (iv) human rights; (v) access to basic services; (vi) occupational health & safety; (vii) adult entertainment; (viii) controversial weapons; (ix) bribery and corruption; (x) accounting and taxation risk.

In addition to the exclusionary screens, companies will be assessed and assigned a "Controversy Rating". If a negative ESG event or incident (an "ESG Incident") connected with a company is identified, an assessment of the ESG Incident is made from a holistic perspective based on the following factors:

1. Impact: negative impact that the incidents have caused to the environment and society;
2. Risk: business risk to the company as a result of the incidents; and
3. Management: a company's management systems and response to incidents.

Fund Characteristics

	Following this assessment an ESG score or Controversy Rating is assigned to the ESG Incident. An ESG Incident is assessed on a scale of 5 categories ranging from Category 1 (Low) to Category 5 (Severe). Companies are then assigned a Controversy Rating which reflects the company's exposure to such negative ESG Incidents (if any). Companies which have a Controversy Rating of higher than Category 4 (High) will be excluded from the Index. Information on the composition and weightings of the Index is published on the NASDAQ website at: https://indexes.nasdaqomx.com/Index/Overview/CPQE. The Index is rebalanced quarterly in March, June, September and December and reconstituted semi-annually in March and September. The Fund is subject to tracking error risk, which is the risk that its returns may not track exactly those of the Index.
