Harbor Health Care UCITS ETF

Reasons to Invest

Growth opportunity

Health care costs are increasing, meaning a shift towards value-based approaches is likely needed, with lower costs and improved patient outcomes. This enables opportunities for health care companies best positioned to facilitate the transition towards value over quantity.

Dynamic approach

The health care sector can be sensitive to market movements. Employing an active, specialised approach may enable the ETF to capture long-term growth opportunities, as well as navigate through shorter-term periods of volatility and dislocation.

Experienced active management

Westfield are experienced active managers, using a bottom-up process to identify companies that meet their strict fundamental criteria and performing a qualitative review on each identified company.

Product Objectives

Harbor Health Care UCITS ETF (WELL) aims to provide exposure to the secular growth and innovation of the U.S. health care system, while achieving alpha relative to the broader Health Care sector by investing in quality businesses with differentiated products, technologies, and services which meet the team's disciplined valuation criteria.

This includes disruptive themes such as targeted oncology, liquid biopsy, gene therapy, orphan diseases, and others that represent compelling long-term growth opportunities

The Health Care ETF is actively managed by the expert team at Westfield Capital Management.

Key Risks

Past performance is not indicative of future performance. When you invest in ETFs your capital is fully at risk and may not get back the amount originally invested. Exchange rates can have a positive or negative effect on returns. The value of equities and equity-related securities can be affected by daily stock and currency market movements.

Source: HANetf, data as of 28.02.2026. Please note that all performance figures are showing net data. Performance before inception is based on back-tested data. Back-testing is the process of evaluating an investment strategy by applying it to historical data to simulate what the performance of such a strategy would have been. Back-tested data does not represent actual performance and should not be interpreted as an indication of actual or future performance. Past performance for the index is in USD. Past performance is not an indicator for future results and should not be the sole factor of consideration when selecting a product. Investors should read the prospectus of the Issuer ("Prospectus") before investing and should refer to the section of the Prospectus entitled "Risk Factors" for further details of risks associated with an investment in this product. If fund is less than 12 months old, YTD field will be calculated since inception. When you invest in ETFs your capital is at risk.

* The fund changed index methodology on 12th September 2024. The index performance is a composite of the old index prior to this date and the new index after.

An investment in an exchange traded product is dependent on the performance of the underlying asset class, less costs, but it is not expected to track that performance exactly. The Products involve numerous risks including among others, general market risks relating to underlying adverse price movements in an Index (for ETFs) or underlying asset class and currency, liquidity, operational, legal and regulatory risks. In addition, in relation to Cryptocurrency ETCs, these are highly volatile digital assets and performance is unpredictable.
