Note for investors in Switzerland

1. Representative and Paying Agent in Switzerland

BNP Paribas Securities Services, Paris, Succursale de Zurich, Selnaustrasse 16, CH-8002 Zurich, is Representative and Paying Agent in Switzerland for the shares distributed in Switzerland.

2. Place where the Relevant Documents may be obtained

The Prospectus, the Articles of Incorporation, the Key Investor Information as well as the Annual and Semi-Annual reports as well as the details of the changes in portfolio composition during the period under review may be obtained without charge from the Representative in Switzerland.

3. Publications

Publications in Switzerland are made on www.fundinfo.com. In Switzerland, Subscription and Redemption Prices together and/or the Net Asset Value (with the indication "commissions excluded") of the Shares are published daily on www.fundinfo.com.

4. Payment of retrocessions and rebates

Retrocessions:

The Management Company and its agents may pay retrocessions as remuneration for distribution activity in respect of shares in or from Switzerland. This remuneration may be deemed payment for the following services in particular:

- setting up processes for subscribing, holding and safe custody of the shares;
- keeping a supply of marketing and legal documents, and issuing the said documents;
- forwarding or providing access to legally required publications and other publications;
- performing due diligence delegated by the Management Company in areas such as money laundering, ascertaining client needs and distribution restrictions;
- mandating an authorised auditor to check compliance with certain duties of the Distributor, in particular with the Guidelines on the Distribution of Collective Investment Schemes issued by the Swiss Funds & Asset Management Association SFAMA;

- operating and maintaining an electronic distribution and/or information platform;
- clarifying and answering specific questions from investors pertaining to the investment product or the Management Company or the Sub-Investment Manager;
- drawing up fund research material;
- central relationship management;
- subscribing for shares as a "nominee" for several clients as mandated by the Management Company;
- training client advisors in collective investment schemes;
- mandating and monitoring additional distributors.

Retrocessions are not deemed to be rebates even if they are ultimately passed on, in full or in part, to the investors.

The recipients of the retrocessions must ensure transparent disclosure and inform the investor, unsolicited and free of charge, about the amount of remuneration they may receive for distribution.

On request, the recipients of retrocessions must disclose the amounts they actually receive for distributing the collective investment schemes of the investors concerned.

Rebates:

In the case of distribution activity in or from Switzerland, the Management Company and its agents may, upon request, pay rebates directly to investors. The purpose of rebates is to reduce the fees or costs incurred by the investor in question.

Rebates are permitted provided that:

- they are paid from fees received by the Management Company and therefore do not represent an additional charge on the fund assets;

- they are granted on the basis of objective criteria;
- all investors who meet the objective criteria and demand rebates are also granted these within the same timeframe and to the same extent.

The objective criteria for the granting of rebates by the Management Company are:

- the volume subscribed by the investor or the total volume they hold in the collective investment scheme or, where applicable, in the product range of the promoter;
- the amount of the fees generated by the investor;
- the investment behaviour shown by the investor (e.g. expected investment period);
- the investor's willingness to provide support in the launch phase of a collective investment scheme.

At the request of the investor, the Management Company must disclose the amounts of such rebates free of charge.

5. Place of Performance and Jurisdiction

Both the place of performance and the place of jurisdiction for Shares in the Company's Sub-Funds offered or distributed or from Switzerland shall be the seat of the Swiss representative.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

The views and opinions expressed herein, which are subject to change without notice, are those of the issuer companies at the time of publication. The data used is derived from various sources, and assumed to be correct and reliable, but it has not been independently verified; its accuracy or completeness is not guaranteed and no liability is assumed for any direct or consequential losses arising from its use, unless caused by gross negligence or wilful misconduct. The conditions of any underlying offer or contract that may have been, or will be, made or concluded, shall prevail.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Glossary

Association Française de la Gestion Financière (AFG)

A French association which represents the third party asset management industry in France and supports the development of socially responsible financial management in France.

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) policy framework

An ESG policy framework aims at describing the ESG approach. To know more about Allianz Global Investors' ESG approach please refer to the "Allianz Global Investors ESG Policy Framework" document on the Allianz Global Investors website.

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) risk score

A score that is attributed to a portfolio or an issuer based on its environmental, social and governance risk profile.

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) rating

A rating that is attributed to a portfolio or an issuer that measures its sustainability strength.

Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol)

The Greenhouse Gas (GHG) Protocol, developed by World Resources Institute (WRI) and World Business Council on Sustainable Development (WBCSD), sets the global standard for how to measure, manage, and report greenhouse gas emissions. GHG Protocol website: <http://www.ghgprotocol.org/>

Inventory of the portfolio.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter

- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter
Global Head of ESG

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter
Global Head of ESG

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

The views and opinions expressed herein, which are subject to change without notice, are those of the issuer companies at the time of publication. The data used is derived from various sources, and assumed to be correct and reliable, but it has not been independently verified; its accuracy or completeness is not guaranteed and no liability is assumed for any direct or consequential losses arising from its use, unless caused by gross negligence or wilful misconduct. The conditions of any underlying offer or contract that may have been, or will be, made or concluded, shall prevail.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

– Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

– Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

– Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)

– Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products

– Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation

– Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

– Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

– Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.

– Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.

– Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Glossary

Association Française de la Gestion Financière (AFG)

A French association which represents the third party asset management industry in France and supports the development of socially responsible financial management in France.

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) policy framework

An ESG policy framework aims at describing the ESG approach. To know more about Allianz Global Investors' ESG approach please refer to the "Allianz Global Investors ESG Policy Framework" document on the Allianz Global Investors website.

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) risk score

A score that is attributed to a portfolio or an issuer based on its environmental, social and governance risk profile.

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) rating

A rating that is attributed to a portfolio or an issuer that measures its sustainability strength.

Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol)

The Greenhouse Gas (GHG) Protocol, developed by World Resources Institute (WRI) and World Business Council on Sustainable Development (WBCSD), sets the global standard for how to measure, manage, and report greenhouse gas emissions. GHG Protocol website: <http://www.ghgprotocol.org/>

Issuers

An issuer is a legal entity that puts a financial asset in the marketplace. Issuers are corporations, sovereigns and related entities.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales.

The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

The Net Asset Value of a fund represents its market value calculated at a specific date.

Number of holdings

Inventory of the portfolio.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

Company revenues from the following green sectors are considered:

- Alternative Energy
- Energy Efficiency
- Sustainable Water
- Green Building
- Pollution Prevention

For details, please refer to the section Additional explanations to reporting

The portfolio's share in the green sector for which data is available is 3.73%

No data is available yet for 77.51% of the Portfolio

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter
Global Head of ESG

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

– Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

– Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

– Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
– Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
– Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
– Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

– Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

– Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.

– Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.

– Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter
Global Head of ESG

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter
Global Head of ESG

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

A rating that is attributed to a portfolio or an issuer that measures its sustainability strength.

Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol)

The Greenhouse Gas (GHG) Protocol, developed by World Resources Institute (WRI) and World Business Council on Sustainable Development (WBCSD), sets the global standard for how to measure, manage, and report greenhouse gas emissions. GHG Protocol website: <http://www.ghgprotocol.org/>

Issuers

An issuer is a legal entity that puts a financial asset in the marketplace. Issuers are corporations, sovereigns and related entities.

Net Asset Value (NAV)

The Net Asset Value of a fund represents its market value calculated at a specific date.

Number of holdings

Inventory of the portfolio.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter
Global Head of ESG

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of ‘green’ certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as ‘green’ based on the local country’s environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research’s Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research’s Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter
Global Head of ESG

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

– Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

– Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

– Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)

– Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products

– Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation

– Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

– Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

– Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.

– Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.

– Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter
Global Head of ESG

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter
Global Head of ESG

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales.

The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter
Global Head of ESG

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company’s operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales. The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds. Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. For this reporting feature we distinguish between mainstream investment strategies and Sustainable Responsible Investing (SRI) investment strategies. For mainstream strategies we report on ESG risk scores as a portfolio risk transparency feature.

For SRI strategies, given their specific best-in-class approach, we use our proprietary ESG ratings which feed into the investment process for these products.

Mainstream strategies

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance pillar scores are risk scores for corporate issuers. These scores aim at assessing the potential financial risks arising from exposure and management of ESG issues. The risk scale spans from 0 (high risk) to 10 (low risk).

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG Scores derive from the underlying issuers' ESG Scores. They are the simple average of the underlying pillar scores along the Environmental, Social and Governance domains.

We have built three risk scoring clusters:

Low: >7-10

Medium: >3-7

High: 0-3

The underlying data are sourced from MSCI. Issuer specific risk scores may be subject to adjustments by Allianz Global Investors' ESG research team after a transparent review in collaboration with fundamental analysts and portfolio managers.

Allianz Global Investors has chosen MSCI risk scores as research information input since they aim to measure financially material ESG risks.

The deviation of the ESG scores of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 20%.

Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Low: 0-2

Medium: >=2-3

High: >=3-4

The total portfolio and benchmark ESG rating scores are derived on the basis of underlying pillar scores. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social, Business Behaviour and Governance domains.

For its proprietary ESG ratings Allianz Global Investors bases itself on the data of several extra-financial rating agencies. This data is reviewed and modified by the Allianz ESG team.

The deviation of the ESG ratings of a portfolio compared to its benchmark is considered as "in line" when it is more or less equal to 10%.

Carbon Footprint

The carbon footprint reporting feature aims at showing the implied carbon dioxide emissions of corporates invested in a portfolio versus benchmark. Carbon dioxide emissions are considered a driver of global warming.

The underlying data are estimated, annual, direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide (CO₂) emissions of corporates. The emissions intensity in tons CO₂ is normed over the total revenues of a corporate to adjust for different business sizes.

The total carbon intensity is the weighted sum of the carbon intensities of the underlying corporates (for the portfolio) or constituents (for the benchmark) adjusted by their respective weight in the portfolio or the benchmark.

The source of issuer carbon intensity data is MSCI.

Contribution to the Energy Transition

The reporting feature aims at building portfolio transparency on the share of corporates that create substantial revenues from products and services in green industry sectors. Such products and services may contribute to lower greenhouse gas emissions or other green sectors.

The indicator shows the net-asset value share of green corporate portfolio holdings in percentage points. Green corporates derive more than estimated 20% of their total revenues from green products and services in defined green industry sectors. The respective sectors are alternative energy, energy efficiency, sustainable water, green building and pollution prevention.

The underlying data is sourced from MSCI.

General disclaimer

The information value of statistics and graphs displayed may be limited due to low ESG research data coverage.

Green sectors explanation

ALTERNATIVE ENERGY

This category includes products, services, or infrastructure projects supporting the development or delivery of renewable energy and alternative fuels, including:

- Generation, transmission, and distribution of electricity from renewable sources including wind, solar, geothermal, biomass, small scale hydro (25 MW), waste energy, and wave tidal.
- Fuels, technology, and infrastructure for the production and distribution of cleaner hybrid fuels, hydrogen, fuel cells, and alternative fuels, including biodiesel, biogas, and cellulosic ethanol.
- Not eligible under this category: large scale hydroelectric plants (>25 MW installed capacity)

ENERGY EFFICIENCY

This category includes products, services, infrastructure, or technologies that proactively address the growing global demand for energy while minimizing effects on the environment, including:

- Technologies and systems that promote efficiency of industrial operations (e.g., turbines, motors, and engines), industrial automation and controls, and optimization systems (e.g., cloud computing, data optimization systems).
- Infrastructure, technology, and systems that increase the efficiency of power management, power distribution, power storage (e.g., batteries), demand-side management (e.g., wireless sensors, advanced meters, smart grid).
- Technologies and systems focused on reducing fuel consumption of transport vehicles and industrial operations (e.g., hybrid/electric vehicles)
- Sustainable transportation infrastructure including urban mass transit, efficiency improvements of public transportation fleets, electric vehicle charging, improved traffic systems.
- Architectural glass, efficient lighting, insulation, building automation and controls, and devices and systems designed to be utilized in the design and construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Energy Efficiency category does not include:

- Corporate operational energy efficiency efforts, such as efficiency gains in manufacturing, transporting, or distributing standard products or services.
- Energy efficient components of finished goods.

SUSTAINABLE WATER

This category includes products, services, and projects that attempt to resolve water scarcity and water quality issues, including minimizing and monitoring current water use and demand increases, improving the quality of water supply, and improving the availability and reliability of water, including:

- Infrastructure and engineering projects developing new or repairing existing water and sanitation pipelines, including equipment and technology providers, resulting in improved quality and/or water use efficiency
- Technologies and products that reduce, reuse, or recycle water as a means of conservation (smart metering devices, low-flow equipment, and rainwater harvesting systems)
- Advanced materials, equipment, technologies, and services that filter or chemically treat wastewater for consumer or industrial use, including desalination

MSCI ESG Research's Sustainable Water category does not include:

- Distribution of drinking water without measurable improvements to water quality
- Water efficiency

GREEN BUILDING

This category includes design, construction, redevelopment, retrofitting, or acquisition of 'green' certified properties – subject to local green building criteria, including:

- Properties that are certified as 'green' based on the local country's environmental performance standard (e.g., based on Energy Star, NABERS >3, or equivalent) or environmental design standards (e.g., LEED Certified, BREEAM, or local equivalent).

MSCI ESG Research's Green Building category does not include:

- Building materials, equipment, or supplies that are already included in the other themes. Examples include: solar panels, energy efficient lighting, advanced materials used in construction, smart grids, etc.

POLLUTION PREVENTION

This category includes products, services, or projects that support pollution prevention, waste minimization, or recycling as a means of alleviating the burden of unsustainable waste generation, including:

- Technologies, systems, and projects aiming to reduce air pollution (environmental IT, conventional pollution control systems, CCS)
- Projects to salvage, use, reuse, and recycle post-consumer waste products
- Waste treatment and environmental remediation projects, including land treatment and brownfield cleanup, soil washing, chemical oxidation, and bioremediation
- Sustainable alternative materials including raw materials, paints, adhesives, etc. used primarily in the construction of environmentally sustainable buildings.

MSCI ESG Research's Pollution Prevention category does not include:

- Landfill or incineration waste treatment projects without a specific waste-to-energy component.

Carbon Intensity, additional information

The Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol) categorizes direct and indirect emissions into three broad scopes:

- Scope 1: All direct GHG emissions derived from the operation of a company resulting from the burning of fossil fuels such as gas, oil, coal etc.
- Scope 2: Indirect GHG emissions from consumption of purchased electricity, heat or steam.
- Scope 3: Other indirect emissions, such as the extraction and production of purchased materials and fuels, transport - related activities in vehicles not owned or controlled by the reporting entity, electricity-related activities (e.g. T&D losses) not covered in Scope 2, outsourced activities, waste disposal, etc.

Please find below some examples of sources of direct and indirect emissions for three types of industries:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Inventory of the portfolio.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.

Carbon Footprint

Carbon emissions are estimated direct (scope 1) and indirect (scope 2 only) carbon dioxide emissions of a corporate over its total revenues. Carbon intensity is measured by tCO₂ equivalent Emissions/mn EUR Sales.

The indicator covers a company's operations carbon emissions only. Further, please be informed that the sector allocation of the portfolio and benchmark have a significant impact on total carbon intensity.

Next to mainstream strategies Allianz Global Investors offers climate thematic and impact driven strategies such as those investing in green bonds, in equities linked to climate transition issues and in liquid and illiquid securities linked to renewable energy. These 'green' assets contribute positively to the alignment of an asset owner's portfolio related to the contribution to a 2°C economy and the portfolio's compatibility with climate and energy transition targets.

Climate transition risk

Dear client,

At Allianz Global Investors we have analysed paths and methods to integrate climate change risk into strategic asset allocation and consider bottom-up climate risk integration into investment research of corporate issuers important. For mainstream investment strategies, all Allianz Global Investors portfolio managers have access to the ESG research.

For the matter of portfolio reporting, for the time being, Climate transition risk will not be reported though. Upon careful analysis of available data to measure and assess an issuer's climate transition risk Allianz Global Investors has decided not to show quantitative portfolio metrics. In our view there are no reliable quantitative metrics and data available so far and any reporting would rather misguide.

Going forward we aim to identify more reliable metrics to measure climate transition risk:

Further we would like to refer to the Allianz Global Investors Climate Risk Investment Positioning Statement which summarizes our views on climate transition risk and provides Q&A on the key topics (<https://uk.allianzgi.com/Institutional/our-firm/our-esg-approach/principles-and-policies>).

Best regards,

Dr. Steffen Hörter

Additional explanations to reporting

Data and methodology explanation

Purpose of the report

The portfolio report aims to facilitate the requirements defined by Article 173 of the French Energy Transition Law. Article 173 is aimed at increasing disclosure of:

- climate change-related risks by listed companies and financial institutions including institutional investors,
- as well as the alignment of institutional investors' portfolios with French and international climate policy.

For the design of the report we have taken into account the general guidelines of French asset management association – AFG. Article 173 does not request a specific reporting format.

All data used for portfolio and benchmark reporting is per end of December for mandates and fiscal year end date for funds.

Information value of reports may be limited when ESG research data coverage is below a certain threshold.

Incorporation of portfolio reporting results into the investment policy

For mainstream portfolios it is to the discretion of the portfolio manager to incorporate findings of the portfolio reports into investment decisions and corporate engagements unless it is explicitly part of the investment guidelines.

Portfolio and Benchmark ESG Scores

ESG Scores aim at measuring the ESG risk profile of portfolios versus benchmark. Sustainable and Responsible Investment strategies (SRI)

The underlying data for the Environmental, Social and Governance corporate issuer ratings used for SRI strategies are derived from a proprietary method by Allianz Global Investors fundamental research using a best-in-class approach.

The proprietary ratings aim at measuring the sustainability strength of issuers. They are adjusted for industry specific materiality weightings of Environmental, Social and Governance domains. The rating scale spans from 0 (low) to 4 (high).

For the purpose of this report, we have built three sustainability strength scoring clusters:

Extractive industry (mining) - majority of scope 1 emissions: Emissions related to extraction sites (fuel for vehicles and infrastructure, wastewater treatment plants, extractive machinery etc.)

Agri-food industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the production of food commodities that will serve the preparation of the end product.

Automobile industry - majority of scope 3 emissions: Emissions related to the usage of the vehicles sold.

Illustrative examples of the breakdown of emissions by scope for different types of industries.

NB: As mentioned earlier in the document, the data contained in this report does not take into account scope 3 emissions.

Glossary

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) policy framework

An ESG policy framework aims at describing the ESG approach. To know more about Allianz Global Investors' ESG approach please refer to the "Allianz Global Investors ESG Policy Framework" document on the Allianz Global Investors website.

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) risk score

A score that is attributed to a portfolio or an issuer based on its environmental, social and governance risk profile.

Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) rating

A rating that is attributed to a portfolio or an issuer that measures its sustainability strength.

Greenhouse Gas Protocol (GHG Protocol)

The Greenhouse Gas (GHG) Protocol, developed by World Resources Institute (WRI) and World Business Council on Sustainable Development (WBCSD), sets the global standard for how to measure, manage, and report greenhouse gas emissions. GHG Protocol website: <http://www.ghgprotocol.org/>

Issuers

An issuer is a legal entity that puts a financial asset in the marketplace. Issuers are corporations, sovereigns and related entities.

Net Asset Value (NAV)

The Net Asset Value of a fund represents its market value calculated at a specific date.

Number of holdings

Inventory of the portfolio.

Sustainability

The objective of sustainable development is to meet the economic, environmental and social needs of society without harming the development opportunities of future generations.

Sustainable Responsible Investment (SRI)

Sustainable and responsible investment describes an investment strategy which incorporates social, environmental and ethical criteria in the selection and management of investment portfolios.

Investing involves risk. The value of an investment and the income from it may fall as well as rise and investors might not get back the full amount invested. Investing in fixed income instruments may expose investors to various risks, including but not limited to creditworthiness, interest rate, liquidity and restricted flexibility risks. Changes to the economic environment and market conditions may affect these risks, resulting in an adverse effect to the value of the investment. During periods of rising nominal interest rates, the values of fixed income instruments (including short positions with respect to fixed income instruments) are generally expected to decline. Conversely, during periods of declining interest rates, the values of these instruments are generally expected to rise. Liquidity risk may possibly delay or prevent account withdrawals or redemptions.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. If the currency in which the past performance is displayed differs from the currency of the country in which the investor resides, then the investor should be aware that due to the exchange rate fluctuations the performance shown may be higher or lower if converted into the investor's local currency.
