Chairman's Letter to Shareholders

1 September 2019 to 29 February 2020

Dear Shareholder.

I am writing to update you on the activities of BlackRock Global Funds ('BGF') over the six months to the end of February 2020. The BGF range comprised 82 funds (each a "Fund", together the "Funds") as at 29 February 2020.

The individual Funds' performance is covered in more detail in the separate Investment Adviser's report. Most equity and bond markets were reasonably buoyant for much of the period, marking a significant shift away from the volatility seen at the end of 2018. This played out despite the backdrop of considerable geopolitical uncertainty. In particular, for most of the period under review, US/ China trade tensions rumbled on, though a 'phase one' agreement was signed in mid-January.

However, just as investors were breathing a sigh of relief, the global economy and financial markets came under intense pressure from the spread of a highly infectious COVID-19 outbreak. The spread of COVID-19 prompted widespread shutdowns in China, its place of origin, spreading to much of Asia and then on to Europe and began one of the sharpest pull backs in economic activity and financial markets in history. International Monetary Fund head Kristalina Georgieva labelled it the "most pressing uncertainty" facing the world economy.

There was an immediate impact on Purchasing Managers' Index numbers and other leading indicators across the globe. The Federal Reserve (the "Fed") acted swiftly to cut rates, but most policymakers recognised that monetary policy alone would not be enough to provide short-term support for businesses hurt by the crisis. Governments stepped in with vast fiscal stimulus packages in an attempt to limit the impact on companies and employment.

The global economy had been in relatively good shape until the virus hit. Freed from the turmoil created by the trade wars, manufacturing had started to recover. Export-focused economies such as Germany had narrowly avoided recession. The global consumer had continued to support markets and investors were becoming more positive.

At the same time, the Fed had committed to keeping interest rates low for the foreseeable future. The Fed lowered rates three times in 2019 and then again as an emergency measure in early 2020, while the European Central Bank ("ECB") reaffirmed its 'lower for longer' position under incoming head Christine Lagarde and resumed quantitative easing. Global central banks are expected to follow where the US leads, but loosening policy further.

US growth continued to drive the global economy, though the impact of tax cuts and infrastructure spending had begun to wane. China continued to move along at around 6% per year, lower than recent history, but still relatively high for such a vast economy. Its manufacturing sector slipped into negative territory on the back of trade tensions though it had started to recover by the middle of the year.

Europe's growth continued to be lacklustre for much of the year, with Germany particularly weak. Its flagship car sector suffered in the cross-fire of the trade war, but was also hit by regulatory pressure and the move to electric vehicles. In the UK, there appears to be some way forward in the Brexit crisis as Boris Johnson won a decision victory in the December General Election. However, there is still a mountain to climb in negotiating a trade agreement between the two sides. There was plenty of early posturing from both sides in January and February as talks began.

Markets bounced around but ended the year significantly higher. Once again, the technology sector led the way as it continued to deliver outsized earnings growth. Investors still preferred the safety of structural growth companies and appeared not to be too worried how much they paid for it. Government bond markets rallied as the view on interest rates changed and then in response to the virus outbreak. The yield on the 10-year treasury dipped to around 0.6%, around 2% lower than where it was in February 2019.

As the aforementioned COVID-19 outbreak escalated towards the end of the year, the severe effects on global economies and markets became increasingly observable as the world witnessed continued travel restrictions, closed international borders, enhanced health screenings at ports of entry and elsewhere, disruption of and delays in healthcare service preparation and delivery, prolonged quarantines, cancellations, supply chain disruptions, and lower consumer demand, as well as general concern and uncertainty. The impact of COVID-19 has adversely affected the economies of many nations across the entire global economy, individual issuers and capital markets, and could continue with extents that cannot necessarily be foreseen. In addition, the impact of infectious illnesses in emerging market countries may be greater due to generally less established healthcare systems. Public health crises caused by the COVID-19 outbreak may exacerbate other pre-existing political, social and economic risks in certain countries or globally. The duration of the COVID-19 outbreak and its effects cannot be determined with certainty.

Chairman's Letter to Shareholders

1 September 2019 to 29 February 2020 continued

Regulatory change continued throughout Europe and a number of these future changes could have implications for investors.

- European Market Infrastructure Regulation ("EMIR"): This aims to increase the transparency and reduce the risk relating to over-the-counter derivatives. It is now being implemented by regulators in individual countries across Europe.
- Packaged Retail Investment and Insurance-based Investment Products ("PRIIPs"): The new rules on key information documents for packaged retail and insurance-based investment products came into effect at the start of January 2018. The Company will benefit from the transitional period available for a UCITS, which has now been extended to 31 December 2021.

The assets under management ("AUM") in the BGF range rose 0.5% from US$130.4 billion to US$131 billion over the period.

Funds investing in high growth areas saw the strongest rise in assets over the period. The FinTech Fund, for example, saw assets rise 66.2% to US$65 million, while the Next Generation Technology Fund saw assets rise 107.2% to US$196.9 million. The World Technology Fund rose 40.3% to US$2.6 billion. The Sustainable Energy Fund posted a 21.8% rise to US$1.2 billion.

Income remained attractive to investors, which created significant demand for higher yielding government bond markets. The China Bond Fund, for example, saw assets rise 116.7% to US$2.9 billion. The Dynamic High Income Fund also saw a strong rise in assets, as did our range of emerging market bond funds.

Asian Equity funds lost their attraction to investors as markets slumped in response to the COVID-19 outbreak. The China Fund dropped 10.4% to US$1.1 billion, while the Asia Pacific Equity Income Fund fell 22.1% to US$221 million. Equity income funds were weak in general. The Global Equity Income Fund dipped 11.2% to US$1.2 billion.

Market Review

In spite of a difficult geopolitical backdrop, global stock markets proved resilient in 2019. After a volatile end to 2018, the catalyst was a change in policy from central banks – and the Fed in particular. Markets rallied on each rate cut and almost all markets across the globe reaped the benefits. However, the uncertain impact of the COVID-19 outbreak looked set to derail markets once again by the end of the period under review.

For much of the 12 month period, global economic growth was weaker. Manufacturing in particular was hard-hit by the ongoing tensions between China and the US. Export-led countries such as Japan and Germany have seen their economies struggle and their stock markets follow suit.

With growth still elusive, companies that could grow their earnings were still prized by investors. 'Value' companies staged a brief comeback in the final quarter of 2019 but could not sustain their rally and had lost favour again by the time the COVID-19 outbreak hit. Once again, it was the major global technology companies that lead stock markets higher, even in the face of some lacklustre corporate earnings. This helped ensure US markets once again outpaced those of its near rivals.

Among the other major markets, Europe showed surprising resilience given the weakness of its economic backdrop and in its anchor economy, Germany. The ECB was supportive, resuming its quantitative easing programme and vowing to keep rates low. At the same time, the market has a high yield at a time when much of the European fixed income market remained on a negative yield.

Long in the Brexit doldrums, UK assets saw a boost from a decisive election result in December and the end of any potential for a hard left government. The Brexit negotiations remain a source of potential volatility, but for the time being, the UK's turmoil appears to be behind it.

Emerging markets ("EM") were given some breathing room by the cut in US rates, allowing many of their central banks to cut rates. Brazil, for example, cut rates for the fourth consecutive meeting in December, which should act to boost the economy next year. Chinese shares had been enjoying a rebound until they were derailed by the COVID-19 outbreak.

Bond prices reflected both the impact of looser monetary policy and widespread risk aversion. The US 10 year treasury yield fell from almost 2.8% in February 2019 to just 0.6% by the end of February 2020. The Fed remains poised to ease rates further should the COVID-19 outbreak derail the global economy.

Outlook

The COVID-19 outbreak looks set to derail the global economy and may even push it into recession. Policymakers may make the difference between a deep and shallow recession. We believe they have three key responses: prevent a sustained tightening of financial conditions; help stave off cash flow shocks that would threaten to shutter otherwise sound businesses; and support individuals whose incomes are eroded by the disruption. We see a need for a decisive and pre-emptive policy response that addresses these three areas.

Economic growth and markets have historically responded with a V-shaped pattern to temporary disruptions caused by past epidemics, with the recovery in economic activity often fuelled by the pent-up demand in retail and a restart of manufacturing sector. Yet key uncertainties around this outbreak may make history an unreliable guide. It is still too soon to gauge the magnitude and duration of this outbreak as well as its overall impact on the global economy.

Prior to the outbreak, growth prospects had started to improve in key developed economies since late 2019 with improving data for the US, the euro area, Japan and the UK. Growth momentum was also starting to recover in EM late last year.

However, economic numbers have already started to decline in the face of the COVID-19 outbreak. For the time being, we see it delaying, but not derailing, a growth uptick that should take root this year, though we recognise that there is a risk of a more serious scenario. China's central bank has already started to ease policy, and we are likely to see more support from Chinese authorities to shore up growth. There has been monetary support from central banks across the globe.

For markets, the shock impact of COVID-19 has been large and sharp, but we believe investors should be level headed. Market movements have been reminiscent of the financial crisis of 2008, but the global economy and financial system are on a much stronger footing. Investors should take a long term perspective.

Disclosed in the table below are the performance returns for the A Class Non-Distributing Share Class for each Fund, net of fees and expenses, which has been selected as a representative Share Class. Performance returns for any other Share Class can be made available on request.

Calculation methodology is based on industry standards.

Past performance is not a guide to future performance and should not be the sole factor of consideration when selecting a product. All financial investments involve an element of risk. Therefore, the value of an investment and the income from it will vary and the initial investment amount cannot be guaranteed. The Fund invests a large portion of assets which are denominated in currencies other than US dollar; hence changes in the relevant exchange rate will affect the value of the investment. The performance figures do not consider charges and fees that may be levied at the time of subscription or redemption of shares. Levels and bases of taxation may change from time to time. Subscriptions may be made only on the basis of the current Prospectus, of which the most recent annual report and audited financial statements and interim report and unaudited financial statements form an integral part, as well as Key Investor Information Documents (KIIDs). Copies are available from Investor Services, the Transfer Agent, the Management Company or any of the Representatives or Distributors. The BGF range is only available for investment by non-US persons. It is not offered for sale or sold in the US, its territories or possessions.

The Funds are not registered for sale to the public in all jurisdictions. Further details on distribution of shares of the Funds are included in the Authorised Status on page 3.
