Legal notice

The software used performs calculations on the basis of more than the two decimal places displayed. Minor discrepancies cannot be ruled out due to further calculations using published results.

The value of a unit is calculated by dividing the entire value of the investment fund inclusive of its income by the number of units. The total value of the investment fund is calculated on the basis of the current market prices of the securities, money market instruments and subscription rights in the fund plus the value of the fund's financial investments, cash holdings, credit balances, receivables and other rights net of its payables. That value will be calculated by the custodian bank.

The net assets are calculated in accordance with the following principles:

- a) The value of assets quoted or traded on a stock exchange or other regulated market shall be determined, in principle, on the basis of the most recently available price.
- b) Where an asset is not quoted or traded on a stock market or another regulated market or where the price for an asset quoted or traded on a stock market or another regulated market does not appropriately reflect its actual market value, the prices provided by reliable data providers or, alternatively, market prices for equivalent securities or other recognized market valuation methods shall be used.

Raiffeisen KAG uses the method developed by OeKB (Österreichische Kontrollbank AG) to calculate the fund's performance, on the basis of data provided by the custodian bank (where payment of the redemption price is suspended, using indicative values). Some costs – the subscription fee (not exceeding 4.00 % of the invested amount) and any redemption fee (not exceeding 0.00 % of the sold amount) – are not included in the performance calculation. The following applies for units sold outside of Austria: Some costs – the subscription fee (not exceeding 4.00 % of the invested amount) and any redemption fee (not exceeding 4.00 % of the sold amount) or a combination of the subscription fee and the redemption fee (not exceeding 4.00 % overall) – are not included in the performance calculation. Depending on their concrete value, they will reduce a performance accordingly. Past results do not permit any reliable inferences as to the future performance of the fund.

Fund investment policy report

Following a positive start to the year, sentiment in relation to the emerging markets turned in the course of the 2nd quarter of 2015 and the local markets came under significant pressure. The beginnings of a normalization of the Fed's interest-rate policy, growth fears in China and the associated slump in commodities prices and also some political turbulence (Brazil, Turkey) induced outflows from emerging markets bonds. Commodities exporters performed particularly weakly in this environment. The recovery in the price of oil in the first few months of this year proved short-lived. Towards the middle of the year, the price of oil once again reached the lows seen at the start of the year. The bonds issued by central European countries realized the most stable performances. Due to the relative stability of the European economy and their limited exposure to China, they came under less pressure. The deterioration in the economic situation in Brazil and the political corruption scandal in this country resulted in clearly negative sentiment in relation to Brazil's president and put pressure on Brazilian bonds. Politics also prompted a bout of turbulence in Turkey, where parliamentary elections failed to deliver clarity and the parties were unable to form a coalition.

At the start of the period under review, Polish bonds had a lesser weighting and Hungarian and Serbian bonds a stronger weighting in the fund. In late February 2015 the fund reduced its holdings of Russian bonds versus Turkish bonds. In April and May 2015, the fund sold Thai and (temporarily) Polish bonds, further reduced its Russian bond holdings and purchased Mexican as well as Romanian bonds. In June 2015 the fund significantly altered its allocation and increased its volume of investment in Russian, Filipino and (temporarily) Malaysian bonds and reduced its holdings in Hungarian bonds (on a temporary basis) and also Turkish, Brazilian, Colombian and Indonesian bonds. The interest-rate sensitivity of Polish bonds was limited throughout the period. From June 2015, the fund reduced the interest-rate sensitivity of several countries and significantly lowered the fund's duration overall. The fund's currency models – MACD and carry to vola – were unable to deliver any positive contribution in the reporting period and yielded marginally negative contributions.

Securities lending transactions were entered into in order to generate additional income.
