

INVESTMENT POLICY OF THE FUND

The aim of the Fund is to create an investment portfolio through asset allocation between and within asset classes that achieves annualised capital growth for investors higher than the benchmark over a 3-year time horizon. The Fund seeks investment opportunities primarily in emerging markets. In order to realise the investment objectives, the asset groups in the Fund's portfolio may be varied freely, without having to adhere to a predetermined risk profile. The Fund is a "total return" fund, which can invest in several asset classes, i.e. instead of focusing on just one sub-sector of the money or capital market, it concentrates its investments within a combination of assets that promises the highest possible return at any given time. The Fund does not aim to track a fixed index, nor does it adhere to a fixed equity-to-bond portfolio ratio, but seeks to vary this ratio within broad boundaries, with the composition of the portfolio changing dynamically in order to achieve the Fund's return target. The Fund's investments focus on emerging markets. The Fund primarily allocates its assets between emerging-market local currency government securities, hard currency government and corporate bonds, and equity markets, in accordance with the latest market expectations. The Fund may thus assume interest rate risk, currency risk, credit risk, as well as equity market risk. The Fund may take positions in other regions and markets (e.g. commodity markets) besides the emerging markets. The Fund hedges most of its currency positions, but it may also take open currency positions. In the interest of efficient portfolio design, the Fund may also assume forward and futures positions. The Fund Manager minimises the currency risk of the Fund's currency series against the base currency by means of foreign exchange futures allocated only to this series. In the interest of an efficient portfolio design, the Fund may also assume futures positions as well as OTC foreign exchange and interest rate derivatives. No individual investor's decisions can be made in the Fund. The Fund Manager minimizes the currency risk of the current series of the Fund against the Fund's base currency using currency forward contracts allocated exclusively to this series. The Fund Manager commits to maintaining the coverage level between 90% and 110% of the asset value of the respective series, which qualifies as effective hedging

MARKET SUMMARY

In October, US capital markets continued to ride the AI wave, while the Fed's expected final interest rate cut this year and the end of quantitative tightening pumped further liquidity into the system. In addition to the dominance of the technology sector, the minor trade truce reached at the Trump-Xi meeting—a reduction in tariffs from 57% to 47% and a one-year easing of rare earth exports—came as a positive surprise, strengthening the dollar and growth prospects. At the same time, the threat of a government shutdown, record data center investments, and Fed Chairman Jerome Powell's caution regarding the December cut dampened the performance of traditional sectors. Bond yields moderated only slightly at longer maturities, while the short end saw a noticeable repricing of the interest rate curve. Europe remained in the grip of political and economic uncertainty: the initial optimism surrounding the formation of the French government proved short-lived, with banking sector stocks falling particularly sharply. Inflation rose slightly in September, but the ECB's decision to keep its key interest rate unchanged raised hopes of easing. Positive signs include a surge in car sales (especially hybrids imported from China) and stable unemployment. On the other hand, weak German industrial production and high energy prices linked to sanctions against Russia continue to put pressure on the continent's economy.

The Fund achieved a positive return in October. Within the portfolio, emerging market equities, Argentine government bonds, and our exposure to the solar energy sector made significant contributions to returns. Our emerging market technology equities, as well as Wizzair and ANY shares, detracted from performance. During the month, we reduced the bond weighting in the portfolio and thus also the interest rate risk to some extent and sold Argentine bonds in the favorable mood following the election results favorable to President Milei. There were minor changes in the equity portfolio: we purchased French and Spanish equities.
