MARKET SUMMARY

Polish government bonds performed well again in October. Yields fell by 18 basis points on 3-year maturities, by 12 basis points on 5-year maturities, and by 13 basis points on 10-year maturities. At its early October policy meeting, the central bank cut interest rates once more, lowering the key rate by 25 basis points to 4.5%. However, the Monetary Policy Council remains cautious about further rate cuts, as both headline and core inflation are still above the central bank's target. Although the freeze on energy prices has been extended until the end of the year, its removal could again push inflation higher. Turning to economic data, preliminary figures indicate that annual inflation declined in October, with the Polish Statistical Office reporting a 2.8% year-on-year rate. Fuel prices fell during the month, while food prices increased. Industrial production rose by 7.4% year-on-year in September, the ninth month of the year. Retail sales also strengthened, with annual growth accelerating from 3.1% in August to 6.4% in September. As for public finances, the state recorded a deficit of PLN 29,415.9 million in September, bringing the 12-month rolling budget deficit to 8.07% of GDP.
